Continental Logistics offers shippers one-stop-shopping

Recently expanded services save customers time and money

Monroe Township, NJ -- April 21, 2008 -- Continental Logistics has stepped up to simplify service for customers within the US and Canada. By expanding its service offerings and increasing its carrier base, Continental Logistics provides clients greater flexibility in a single-source solution.

Continental Logistics' Total Freight Management solutions enable smooth coordination of all transportation elements in a client's supply chain. All manner of cargo--raw materials through finished goods--can be easily routed through multiple shipping options. Continental Logistics handles container drayage into/out of ports, as well as intermodal moves and deliveries. With their robust carrier base, Continental Logistics offers substantial capacity and a variety of specialty services such as LTL and direct-to-store delivery. Clients using the expanded services need not worry about cargo being bumped for space limitations or equipment shortages. Warehousing is available with parent company, Port Jersey Logistics.

Industry veteran Denise Ciok, manages the Continental Logistics business unit, which began operations in 1985. She views the expanded services as a natural step in growing CL's service-oriented business, stating, "Providing shippers with one stop shopping saves time and money for our customers, which gives them a competitive advantage in the markets they serve."
